Showcasing Made in America to Worldwide Buyers

November 19th, 2021

Miami, FL - We are excited to announce TradesAmerica – a new online B2B platform to connect American Sellers and Global Buyers.

With the growing demand of online commerce, especially over the last few years, we have noticed the demand for Made in the USA or American Made products worldwide has gone up. American businesses design, create and also manufacture some of the best products and the services provided by American companies are second to none. With no platform available to find all American companies and products in one place, we decided to build Tradesamerica.com - to fill the gap.

The B2B marketplace is highly competitive, with many well-known companies already established and dominating the market, TradesAmerica has a unique pitch, unlike other online marketplaces, and we are focused entirely on American Made products. This benefits not only the American buyer, by reducing shipping and delivery times and buying high quality local products, but also gives each seller a great platform to promote their American Made products to the global buyers. Over the last years the trend to buy American Made products has increased and almost turned into a movement to support domestic and local companies, which we highly support and want to be part of.

With new vendors and companies joining our platform, TradesAmerica is in the early stages, but nonetheless we are optimistic that our constant growth will go on.

We at TradesAmerica highly encourage you to join the platform as soon as possible to be able to offer you a lifetime membership without any fees. No – there is no catch. We know how important it is for our customers to have a large variety of products to choose from, and also for our vendors to have their products/services displayed to more potential buyers. That’s why we decided to make our marketplace, at least for now in the growing stage, completely free without any hidden costs and fees to give it a kickstart.

Without any complicated sign-up process and waiting times you can become a vendor in minutes, or hours, depending on the number of products or services you are planning to list on our marketplace. Through TradesAmerica.com, international buyers have a chance to see what American companies and businesses have to offer and on the other side it will also help American businesses to generate more leads through our platform.
