Two Fall Jewellery Trends That Fashion-Forward Dressers Are Loving This Season

Straight from the streets of this year's Fashion Week, these two trends will be seen everywhere -- and the experts at Damiani Jewellers know just how to style them for maximum impact.

WOODBRIIDGE, Ontario, October 10, 2019 (NewsWire.com)

- Now that Fashion Week 2019 has officially come to a close, fashion-forward men and women have gotten a good look at the styles that the rest of the world will wear in the months ahead. The experts at Damiani Jewellers have also tuned in, and are back with two jewellery trends that will be everywhere this season.

First up are the yellow gold hoop earrings that fashionistas everywhere are wearing right now. Although this jewellery trend has been in vogue for a few seasons now, tastemakers see no sign of this movement dying down anytime soon.

How to wear it: The chunkier the hoop, the better. Those with more than one ear piercing may want to consider wearing multiple hoops; mixing and matching different hoop sizes and textures for earlobe piercings, for example, would look stunning with a high ponytail or updo.

Next are gold chain necklaces, another trend that has remained popular since the beginning of the year. The fashion set is really loving a layered moment right now!

How to wear it: Pair chunky and traditional-style chain link necklaces with dainty, minimalist designs. Choose styles with one element in common -- say, all yellow gold pieces or pendants with a similar theme -- to maintain a cohesive, put-together look.

Dress up any streetwear or athleisure ensemble with one or both of these fall jewellery trends to bring any outfit together. Looking effortlessly stylish has never been easier!

Although these styles have been popular for a few seasons already, Damiani Jewellers' experts foresee that these looks will be at the forefront of jewellery trends until the end of the year. After all, colorful gemstones and elaborate pieces are so last season; bring on the refinement and minimalist elegance of autumn and winter.
