
GMG Jewellers' Gold and Diamond Buying Event Helps Customers Turn Unwanted Jewellery Into Cash on the Spot

Shoppers can turn their old pieces into cash or a brand new accessory within the hour, thanks to the retailer's quick appraisal process.

SASKATOON, Saskatchewan, January 9, 2019

(Newswire.com) - The start of a new year often brings an impulse to start fresh, leading many people to go through their belongings and get rid of old or purposeless things. For those with broken, bent, unmatched, or unwanted jewellery, GMG Jewellers is here to help.

For the next few months the Saskatoon-based jewellery retailer will be hosting their Gold and Diamond Buying event, allowing visitors to turn their discarded fine jewellery or luxury watches into cash.

Starting now, customers can bring in their gold and jewellery for evaluation and purchase. GMG Jewellers' efficient appraisal process allows their staff to give shoppers prices for their items within the hour. The retailer also offers cash on the spot for all gold and jewellery sales, rather than holding the pieces for a period of time before issuing the cheque.

For those looking to replace their old accessories with something new, the Saskatchewan retailer has a few other alternatives available as well. Because the jeweller has a full custom design team on staff, visitors can use their gold and gemstones to create a brand-new piece from their existing ones. GMG Jewellers also takes used jewellery on trade against new product -- another feature most stores do not have.

However, it is important to note that their store does not accept any costume jewellery, or gold- or silver-plated items.
