Never Turn Down a Paying Customer Again

Many consumers that use cryptocurrencies do so as their preferred payment option. Potential customers who are already familiar with cryptocurrencies are more interested in doing business with companies that accept digital cash. The use of digital cash and digital wallets continues to grow. In 2017, Bitcoin leaped from the 90th to the 30th largest currency in the world, soon to eclipse Mastercard's transactional market share.

As a merchant payment network for small or big ticket purchases, our platform makes processing Bitcoin and other blockchain payments as simple as installing a plugin, compatible with most enterprise platforms. With our service, no customer will be turned away, increasing your sales and expanding your customer base, by offering multiple, digital payment options (Bitcoin, Bitcoin Cash, Litecoin and Dash), with funds deposited directly into your bank account.

Everyone wins.

Digital Currency Is Here to Stay

There is a growing number of global consumers more likely to buy products and services from businesses that accept cryptocurrency, because they can avoid expensive transaction fees and global exchange rate risk.

Providing your customers privacy and security with new payment method options will help to reduce or avoid the current shopping cart abandonment rate of 17% due to privacy concerns, and another 18% from too many payment security checks.

Even though digital currencies are currently a niche market, providing additional payment options allows your business to appeal to a much wider customer base. In fact, up to 28% of cart abandonment is largely due to limited payment options. Streamline and revamp your checkout process by making it faster and more cost-effective for your customers than traditional payment methods, by accepting cryptocurrencies.
