

KBKG ANNOUNCES CERTIFICATION AS AIA CONTINUING EDUCATION PROVIDER

KBKG, a tax credits and incentives consulting firm, has announced its certification as an American Institute of Architects (AIA) Continuing Education Provider.

KBKG's classes will be instructed by its Director, Jesse Stanley, P.E., who will lead the courses for providers looking to maximize tax savings on energy-efficient building designs. Stanley is the firm's Practice Leader for its 179D Tax Deduction Group, possessing more than 15 years of experience in the energy, sustainability, and tax consulting industries.

KBKG SERVICES

- 179D Incentive for Energy Efficient Commercial Buildings
- Research & Development Tax Credit
- Cost Segregation
- Repair vs. Capitalization Review
- Fixed Asset Review
- 45L Credits for Energy Efficient Residential Developments
- Transfer Pricing
- IC-DISC

“Receiving the certification to become an AIA Continuing Education Provider echoes KBKG’s commitment to support and partner with architects and engineers,” Stanley said. “Our firm has worked hard to establish itself as a trusted consultant since our founding in 1999, and I’m excited to see both our 179D and Green Building Tax incentive services team continue to build on its position as a recognized industry leader.”

Known as a trusted advisor for CPAs, KBKG has expanded its expertise in the 179D, green energy, and sustainability professional services space to meet the needs of its clients and partners today and into the future.

AIA serves as the nation’s voice for the architectural profession and is now an organization that has surpassed 94,000 members. AIA members benefit from joining the architecture and design community, and exchanging industry-related knowledge, as well as various networking opportunities.
