
QOMMODITY'S QAA TOKEN IS AVAILABLE NOW ON TWO MORE PLATFORMS

Qommodity's QAA token has just been launched on one more platform and is now available for purchase on Lbank (<https://www.lbank.info/>).

LBank and BitMart is a world-class crypto exchange with millions of users worldwide. Thus, this is your chance to purchase the QAA token before the prices spike.

The QAA token is a voucher that will allow you to exchange the QAA token against the QAAA token at the market value price on the moment of exchange once it's launched. What makes the QAAA token so valuable is the fact that it is a future asset-backed Security Token with ISIN. The asset-backing is realized through the monetisation of in-ground natural resources.

The origin of Qommodity is in Sierra Leone for more than 12 years ago through one of its subsidiaries, Tandem Liber Holdings, the natural resource division of Qommodity Resource Holdings.

Qommodity's licenses are now covering a total area of 354.5 sq. km, valuing the in-ground resources through the certification standard NI43-101.

This process is called "tokenization of in-ground resources", which will enable the largest transition of wealth in the history of mankind since these untapped resources will be made suitable for monetization within the monetary system.

One of the main goals of this project is to increase the quality of life for the communities, creating opportunities, livelihood, and sustainable development within the scope of ESG. The resources remain unexploited, thus increasing the value of the land. With this approach, Qommodity will contribute to facilitating access to clean water, medicine, education, and other long-term benefits.

Qommodity also aims to provide a low threshold in order to obtain the QAAA token for people all over the world. This one-of-a-kind (security) token will build the bridge between the traditional finance system and digital currency.

The mission is simple: protect our planet, bring people to a higher quality of life, and offer the chance to choose if you want to make the most out of the traditional financial system or want to enjoy the benefits of a hybrid financial solution. The system behind the QAA token is backed with sophisticated customer support to make sure that everyone has access to obtain the token without specialized financial knowledge.

To ensure that the QAA token is made accessible to as many people as possible, Qommodity decided to launch it on various cryptocurrency exchanges and get it monitored by the crypto observatories.

Therefore, Qommodity's QAA token is now available on 2 central exchanges and the website:
