Retention Solutions for Every Situation

86% of employers believe that new hires make the decision to stay at a company in their first 90 days. But retaining employees is a complex process that touches many areas. With a lack of data on employee sentiment among employers, many companies don't have a clear understanding of the level of engagement and satisfaction among their workforce. This can lead to high turnover rates and low productivity. By collecting and analyzing data on employee sentiment, Click Retain provides employers with valuable insights that will help them to improve the employee experience, increase engagement, and ultimately drive business success.

Touchpoints

Set standard benchmarks across your company with Retain's employee sentiment framework backed by research done by an IO Psychologist. If a touchpoint indicates that employees are unhappy with their workload or lack opportunities for growth and development, administrators can take steps to address these issues, such as providing additional resources or training. By making a concerted effort to improve the employee experience, administrators can help to reduce turnover and increase retention.

Sentiment Analysis

Retain's sentiment analysis provides valuable insight into how employees feel about their work environment and can help identify areas for improvement. Measuring employee sentiment on a consistent basis can provide valuable insights into the overall satisfaction and engagement of your workforce. By regularly surveying employees, HR Administrators can identify areas of concern, track progress over time, and make data-driven decisions to improve the employee experience.

Cadenced Surveys

Improve retention with measured feedback across key employment categories such as job type, role fit, and management level. Retain's surveys are short, to improve participation rates, and become more comprehensive as their career progresses. With surveys, employee engagement and satisfaction can easily be measured. By regularly assessing sentiment through surveys, turnover rates decrease and administrators can identify and address issues that may be causing dissatisfaction and driving employees to leave the company.

Did you know...

Companies with effective employee retention strategies experience 24% less turnover and 31% higher employee engagement than those without. Measuring employee sentiment on a consistent basis is a valuable tool for managers looking to improve retention and overall employee satisfaction. By regularly touching base with employees and taking action to address areas of concern, managers can create a more positive work environment, leading to happier, more engaged, and more productive employees.

Texting

By providing text messaging as an optional way to receive survey notifications, employers can ensure that their employees are engaged and actively participating in the survey, resulting in a higher rate of participation. This allows employees to easily access and complete the survey at their convenience.

Confidential vs. Anonymous

Click Retain also provides the ability to create anonymous or confidential touchpoints. Confidential surveys allow organizations to track responses and ensure employee privacy while anonymous surveys provide employees with the ability to give honest feedback without fear of repercussions. Confidential surveys offer the added benefit of allowing for more targeted analysis.

One of our most essential tools

If you've worked in HR for a company with multiple offices across multiple states, you can already imagine the headache that creates from a process and legality standpoint. Clickboarding is able to solve a LOT of the problems that we face. To this day we're still incredibly impressed with how it has streamlined our new hire process so much that onboarding a remote worker is just as easy as onboarding someone in the office.
