ECS Financial Successfully Passes Peer Review

Northbrook, IL, October 21, 2016 — ECS Financial Services, a full-service financial firm specializing in the equipment financing industry, recently passed its triennial American Institute of Certified Public Accountants' (AICPA) peer review. Its participation and successful completion of the review demonstrates the company's commitment to maintaining high professional standards.

"We hold ourselves to a very high standard at ECS, and it's always encouraging to be recognized for our commitment to excellence," said CEO Sam Oliva. "The peer review program is an important facet in our quality control efforts, and our successful passing goes to show how much hard work and dedication is put forth by our staff. We look forward to more successful reviews in the future."

The rigorous process began when an AICPA qualified local firm accepted the task of conducting the review. The reviewing firm then contentiously studied ECS' policies and procedures in order to determine if they comply with professional standards that relate to quality control, ethical responsibilities, and leadership goals.

The peer reviewer then took a representative sample of ECS Financial's work, or engagements, to decide if the firm abides by its set policies and performs quality work for its clients. The reviewers concluded that the firm's system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practices have been suitably designed and comply with applicable professional standards.

In addition to proving their systems remain compliant with AICPA standards, ECS' participation in the review program, confirms their dedication to serving their clients to the best of their ability.

"We think our clients, and our own staff, deserve independent quality assurance that our firm provides quality services," said Tobey Wilson, ECS shareholder. "We are proud of our peer review results and would be happy to answer any questions you might have regarding our procedures or the peer review program."

ECS continually acts to ensure it is operating with the highest of professional standards in mind. Since the program's inception in 1988, ECS has consistently taken part in the reviews and has never failed to pass. During the interim years—the program only occurs every three years—ECS undertakes an independent quality control inspection.
