ELECTRONIC SIGNATURE

SOFTWARE OVERVIEW

Electronic signature (e-signature) software enables you to collect signatures on digitally shared documents, and removes the need to use physical documents to gather signatures. The platform allows you to distribute legally sensitive documents to collect e-signatures. Organizations use it to encrypt documents like employment paperwork and sales contracts for which employee, partner, or client signatures are needed.

E-signature software easily integrates with third-party solutions such as supply chain, HR management, ERP, and sales systems to facilitate supplier management, contract, and quote efforts. The tools have inbuilt security standards that meet federal and local legal requirements. This further streamlines the legal document sharing process and guarantees the legitimacy of signatures collected with the software. E-signature software allows both senders and recipients to sign documents on a range of devices and operating systems.
