Chicago-Based Jewelry Retailer Diamonds on Wabash Adds Simon G to Inventory

Shoppers looking for bridal and fine jewelry pieces from the designer can now visit Diamonds on Wabash in Jewelers Row to take home their favorite styles.

CHICAGO, Illinois, April 22, 2019 (Newsire.com) - For fine jewelry lovers and casual jewelry enthusiasts alike, the name Simon G brings to mind images of luxury and glamour -- in no small part due to the designer's lavish jewelry offerings.

So, in order to better accommodate the tastes of their discerning clientele, Diamonds on Wabash has recently added Simon G fine and bridal jewelry to their product mix.

Simon Ghanimian and his team of designers are known for an exacting attention to detail, whether it's the scrollwork on an engagement ring from the Vintage Explorer collection or the life-like details in an Organic Allure necklace. Once a new design is finished, it is given a full polish on every single surface -- top, bottom, sides, back, interior, and even underneath gemstones -- to give it a shine like none other.

Although the brand carries many distinct collections in their extensive array of jewelry, there is one more thing each piece has in common: quality. Simon G is committed to using only ethically sourced materials, diamonds with GH color and SI clarity or higher, as well as platinum and gold alloys made in-house.

Find popular bridal and fine jewelry lines like Passion, Garden, and Modern Enchantment by visiting Diamonds on Wabash in Chicago's Jewelers Row today.
