Cassiopeia Jewelry

Born and raised in Eastern Europe, Simona Zion left her country and moved to the United States to pursue her dream of becoming a jewelry designer. Her love for jewelry started at a very young age. "My grandma is responsible for my love for jewelry," she says with a smile, remembering wearing her grandmother's vintage necklaces and earrings. In addition to her grandmother, Zion finds inspiration in her love for old movies. Roman Holiday and The Seven Year Itch are her favorites, with what she describes as "the classy women from the 60's." Her latest collection is named after another role model whom she admires for her poise and charitable work, Princess Diana. Each piece in the collection is named for a member of the royal family.
