Steamatic of East Texas receives 50-year longevity award at 2018 International Convention

July 24, 2018 - Fort Worth, TX

Steamatic franchise owners and employees from around the world convened in Fort Worth, TX recently for the 2018 Steamatic International Convention. The convention's "Golden Opportunity!" theme perfectly fit the info-packed, high energy event.

The convention speakers included industry leaders from Contractor Connection, Alacrity, CLEANFAX, and Violand Management Associates. The three-day agenda was also filled with informative breakout sessions, franchise lead panels, and focused training courses. The Wednesday event included a full-day international meeting attended by owners from eight countries.

Steamatic's President, Stefan Figley, opened Saturday morning's general session by providing the future vision for the Steamatic system. "Increased tools & resources from franchise support, revamped franchise development and growth are all part of the Steamatic future," said Figley during his address.

The convention concluded with an awards banquet where several franchise owners were recognized for their performance and time with the franchise system. Brian Tuttle of Steamatic of East Texas was one of four owners receiving the Longevity Award for 50 years in business. Steamatic of East Texas opened their doors in 1968 as a woman-owned business by Mary Lynne Tuttle. The company is thriving today because of Mary's steadfastness and her legacy carries on with her son, Brian Tuttle, at the helm.

Steamatic has already started preparations for their next convention to be held in the summer of 2020 in Florida. They hope to have another amazing turnout.
