US Air Force Captain Anthony Simone was the co-pilot of a helicopter with the 66th Rescue Squadron on a mission when the helicopter was shot down in Afghanistan. With little control of the spinning helicopter, Capt. Simone was able to steer to an area away from the prepared Landing Zone, saving lives on the ground. Capt. Simone, one of two survivors in the crash, sustained a severe traumatic brain injury (TBI). Captain Simone enjoys spending time with his wife, Andrea and their two young children and currently reside in Joliet, IL. Anthony can use some Chicagoland support and WE ARE GOING TO HELP!
