

Grand Mama Sarah Obama Endorse the Safari Initiative

Kenya Pastor Dr. Bishop Washing ton Ngede Interprets the conversation between Sarah Obama and Anthony "Amp" Elmore. Click on the above picture to see video of her endorsement to visit Memphis, Tennessee.

5 time World Karate Kickboxing Champion Anthony "Amp" Elmore recently returned from a 2 1/2 week mission in Kenya. Elmore traveled to Kenya to present a comprehensive plan called the Safari Initiative. Elmore met with 5 Kenyan Governors. The Safari Initiative is a plan that integrates culture as a way to build jobs and trade between Africa and America. Elmore notes that the foundation of American society and growth of industry was based on culture. Elmore notes that trade and relationships with Africa opens a plethora of opportunity unimagined in the past for small and medium businesses to open the door for trade and opportunity for trade with Africa.

In the above picture Elmore is visiting the home of Sarah Obama. Sarah Obama is the Grand mother of U.S. President Barack Obama Jr. President Obama calls her "Granny." Grand Mother Sarah Obama is 91 years old. At 91 years old she operates an orphanage in Kenya. She is remarkably strong for a woman of 91 years old. Grand Mama Sarah Obama heard about Elmore's plan of wanting to invite African Americans to come home to visit their ancestral land of Africa. Grand Mama Sarah told Elmore that her grandson U.S. President Barack Obama Jr. had similar ideas. Grand mama Sarah made clear to Elmore that he and other African Americans were family and not only were they welcomed to come home to "Mother Africa" it makes her heart peaceful knowing that her family in America will return.

Grand mama Sarah told Elmore that he was also her Grandson. She agreed to come to Memphis to help launch the Safari Initiative and to raise money for her orphanage in Kenya. She told Elmore that since she is scheduled to come to American she would make a stop in Memphis, Tennessee. She said that the President would have to approve her trip.
