- Just in time for the holiday season, Lewis Jewelers welcomes a new jewelry brand to their store's showcases. GURHAN, the company that pioneered the use of 24 karat gold in modern jewelry design, will now be available for purchase at the retailer's location in Ann Arbor.

GURHAN's jewelry collection at Lewis Jewelers includes a wide breadth of pieces that showcase the brand's groundbreaking work in 24 karat and 22 karat gold, as well as in sterling silver "kissed" with gold. The line includes rings, earrings, necklaces, and bracelets.

Those who enjoy the work of founder Gurhan Orhan will be able to pick out the signature details of his designs: pieces made solely out of 24 karat gold, with 22 karat fastenings; old-world goldsmithing techniques brought up-to-date for the modern age; hand-hammered metal to add strength to the structural integrity of each design; and the natural imperfections that are a result of crafting each item by hand.

Recognized by the Metropolitan Museum of Art for the designer's mastery of pure gold jewelry, GURHAN is a well-respected brand in the fine jewelry industry -- and one that Lewis Jewelers is proud to offer to their dedicated customers.
